INDIANA MILITIA GUARDING MINERS

Mines Reopened Following Weeks Of Idleness

Only 25 Men, However, Are Ready To Go To Work

No Signs Of Disturbance Mars Occasion

(By Associated Press.)
 Evansville, Ind., Feb. 23.—With troops of the Indiana National Guard camped here, five non-union bituminous coal mines in southern Indiana were reopened today after several weeks of idleness.

Only 25 men reported for work, however, at the five mines, according to observers for the sheriff's office. These mines normally employ several hundred men.

An Indianapolis company of the National Guard arrived here today and three airplanes to be used for observation purposes flew here from Kokomo. What little activity was possible at the reopened mines with the small force which reported was begun quietly, the sheriff was told, and with no signs of disturbance.

EDUCATION DEPT' FUNDAMENTAL NEED

School Is Bulwark Of Civil Liberties

(By Associated Press.)
 Washington, Feb. 23.—To meet the nation's most "fundamental needs" the executive committee of the National Education Association went on record today in favor of the bill before Congress creating a department of education with a secretary in the "cabinet as its need."

Declaring the American public school is the bulwark of our civil and religious liberties, the commission's report, which was submitted to the meeting here of the association's department of superintendence, declared its hearty endorsement of the bill as a means of bringing about co-ordination of government educational activities.

"This bill," said the request, "does not permit of any interference with the complete autonomy of the states in the administration and control of their schools, but it does provide for a more efficient participation of the federal government by co-ordinating its present education activities and by extending the scope of its scientific investigations."

 Upper Lake, New York, Feb. 23.—A temperature drop of 80 degrees since noon yesterday sent the mercury to 30 degrees below zero here today. The cold snap followed two days of balmy weather. Thermometers at Saranac Lake registered from 22 to 28 degrees below zero, the lowest readings of the winter.

RENOMINATION OF COOLIDGE IS BIG ISSUE NOW

May Have Term Of Office Shortened

Good Argument For "Third Term" By Backers

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
 (By Consolidated Press, Copyright 1926)
 Washington, Feb. 23.—President Coolidge may have his present term of office shortened by constitutional amendment—and that has developed an interesting point with respect to his renomination in 1928.

As matters stand now Mr. Coolidge is being considered for a "third term" by politically minded folk who always look ahead and arrange for support long in advance of an election. But the third term idea has been repudiated in convention and campaigns before, so Mr. Coolidge's friends have insisted that he really filled out the unexpired term of the late President Harding and that he now is serving his first full term and is entitled like other Presidents to a second term. The argument has been opposed by many politicians especially those who came from states with "favorite sons." Should Congress and three-fourths of the states, however, adopt the proposed Norris amendment to the Federal Constitution, Mr. Coolidge would have his present term curtailed to January 1929 instead of March of that year. Under the circumstances his supporters would argue that he is entitled to a full four year term as President in his own right. No such case ever presented itself in American history and there is just enough novelty in the proposition to enable the Coolidge supporters to make an answer that will at least be different than anything available before.

Raid On Chicago Bad Lands Nets Over 120 Bad Gunmen

West Side Of City Terrorized During Past Year By Wars Among Gangsters

(By Associated Press.)
 Chicago, Feb. 23.—More than 120 were under arrest today as a result of police raids throughout the West Side "Badlands" for deportable alien gangsters and gunmen. The district had been terrorized during the past year by gun warfare.

Twenty-one of the men taken in the sudden police attack were designated as government prisoners by United States Inspectors sent here on instructions from Washington. The suspects must stand trial for their rights to remain longer in this country, inspectors said.

Ninety-nine arrests were made in cafes, poolrooms and homes and twenty-two were taken from street corners. One warehouse, which police raided, gave up sawed-off shotguns, pistols and a large quantity of ammunition.

Counsel Notes Appeal For Fall - Doheny

Would Have Court Of Appeals Decide Question

(By Associated Press.)
 Washington, Feb. 23.—Counsel for Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny noted a special appeal today from the decision of the District of Columbia Supreme Court sustaining the validity of the second indictment against them for conspiracy to defraud in connection with the leasing of the naval oil reserve in California.

The purpose of the appeal is said to have the District of Columbia Court of Appeals decide a question of law procedure before actual trial on the indictments.

STILLMAN CREATES TRUST FUND FOR SON

Mrs. Florence Leeds Also "Taken Care Of"

(By Associated Press.)
 New York, Feb. 23.—James A. Stillman, banker, now in Paris with his wife, has established a substantial trust fund for Jay Ward Leeds, his eight-year-old son, whose mother is Mrs. Florence H. Leeds.

William M. Sullivan, attorney for the banker, admitted today that the fund had been established. The exact figures were withheld. Mr. Sullivan declining to confirm or deny that the fund was for $200,000 a year until the boy is 21 with a principal of $150,000 upon his coming of age. Mrs. Leeds also was taken care of adequately.

Establishment of the fund was voluntary on Mr. Stillman's part, Mr. Sullivan said. There were no threats of legal action by Mrs. Leeds.

In the divorce proceedings brought by Mr. Stillman in 1922, Mrs. Stillman charged that he was the father of Mrs. Leeds' two children, one of whom died. Mr. Stillman lost his suit and a referee upheld Mrs. Stillman's contention regarding Mrs. Leeds.

BERT E. HANEY RESIGNS FROM SHIPPING BOARD

Brings to Head a Troublesome Situation

(By Associated Press.)
 Washington, Feb. 23.—Bert E. Haney, Democrat, Oregon, resigned today as a member of the Shipping Board, effective March 1.

The action brings to a head a troublesome situation which has existed since last August 1, when President Coolidge requested Mr. Haney's resignation on the ground that by proposing to remove Leigh Palmer as president of the Fleet Corporation the commissioner had run "contrary to the understanding I had with you when I re-appointed you."

TAX BILL COMES UP IN HOUSE

Leaders Are Confident Of Ratification

Position Of Coolidge On Measure Unknown

(By Associated Press.)
 Washington, Feb. 23.—With leaders expecting protection on the compromise revenue bill, agreed to by Senate and House conferees, a proposed tax reduction of $387,000,000 was brought up for ratification today in the House. Several members opposed the conference recommendation but managers for the measure were confident the House would accept the bill before night.

While it would not be definitely established at the White House today whether President Coolidge would approve the conference bill, he was represented as believing that in going beyond the figures fixed by the treasury Congress assumed an obligation to keep down appropriations to avoid a possible deficit.

Agreement was reported to limit debate to two hours after which a vote of adoption was ordered. Chairman Green, of the Ways and Means Committee, who headed the House managers in the conference, opposed the debate, declaring the Senate had been forced to yield to the principles of the House bill.

DEPORTATION SOUGHT FOR HOOGESTRATEN

Fear He May Become a Public Charge

(By Associated Press.)
 Washington, Feb. 23.—Representative LaGuardia, Socialist, New York, announced today he would ask the Labor Department to investigate the status of Count Ludwig Slam Von Hoogestraten, husband of the former Millicent Rodgers, to determine if he was subject to deportation on the ground that he might become a public charge.

Count Slam arrived here today from Palm Beach, accompanied by his mother. Mr. LaGuardia said he expected to forward a letter to the Labor Department late today asking an inquiry into the Count's case and if it is found he is without visible means of support his deportation will be requested.

STRIKE CALLED OFF LACK OF FUNDS FOR RELIEF WORK IS THE REASON

(By Associated Press.)
 Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 23.—Lack of funds for relief work has caused district officials of the United Mine Workers to call off strikes in the Southern West Virginia bituminous coal fields, it was learned today. Local unions were advised by Percy Tetlow, president of District 17, that after March 1 relief funds would be exhausted and he "reluctantly" advised the men to go to work.

$50,000 LOSS

(By Associated Press.)
 Winston Salem, N. C., Feb. 23.—The bank of Stokes county in King, N. C., fifteen miles from here, was robbed early today. Officials who issued a list of securities, gold and money taken in the robbery say the loss will exceed $50,000. An acetylene torch was used to cut a hole in the back of a small safe. No trace of the robbers has been found.

CLIMAX TO HOLDUPS

Slayer Makes Escape In Automobile

WOMAN SEES SHOOTING

Murderer Finishes Job With Shot In Head

(By Associated Press.)
 St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 23.—Two St. Paul patrolmen were shot to death by an unidentified gunman in the residence district here early today and then, as they lay helpless in the street, each was shot through the head.

The slayings came as a climax to a search for the robber who had terrorized the residence district Monday night and early today and who had committed seven holdups in three hours.

The slain policemen, John Schultz and Fred Poitsch, were patrolling the district in an automobile and had started to investigate a large car when the shooting occurred. Poitsch dashed his light into the machine and was met with gunfire, two bullets hitting him.

As Schultz started to his companion's aid he was also struck.

Mrs. Thomas Cameron, living near by, said she was awakened by the first shot and saw a man walk to the spot where Schultz was lying. The man, she said, held his revolver close to the wounded patrolman's head and fired. He then walked to the body of the other patrolman and fired a bullet into his head. After the second shot, Mrs. Cameron said, the slayer examined both bodies and then leaped into an automobile and escaped.

 Chicago, Feb. 23.—Wilson and Company, packers, was sold today to the reorganization company for $23,150,000 and the reorganizations which have been in the making since the receivership in 1924 will be put into effect.

Thomas E. Wilson, president since the founding of the company in 1916, will continue as its head.

The sale to the reorganization committee, representing bond holders and banking interests was foreshadowed for many months.

Rival Organization of K.K.K. Gaining Strength in the South

"Anti-Evolution" Body Takes Members At $10 Per

By Central Press.

Atlanta, Ga., February 23.—A rival organization of the Ku Klux Klan is finding favor in the south.

Edward Young Clarke, formerly a moving force in the Klan, is at the head of the new organization, known as the "Supreme Kingdom." Membership is open at $10 to Nordic Protestants who uphold "Fundamentalism" and the principles of the late William Jennings Bryan, and believe the Bible and not "evolution" should be taught in the schools.

Clarke was until recently affiliated with a movement to organize "Knights of the Flaming Sword."

The avowed purpose of the "Supreme Kingdom" is to eliminate teaching of the theory of evolution in the schools and colleges. It also proposes to keep out of public office any man who does not pass its test as a Fundamentalist and anti-evolutionist.

It sponsors two pretentious projects. One is to build on Lookout Mountain, in Tennessee, a large radio station to broadcast Bible instruction and hymn tunes. The other is to found the Bryan Memorial University at Dayton, Tenn., scene of the Scopes "evolution" trial.

A "national conference of anti-evolutionists" has been called to meet in Atlanta, March 16, and a state

PRIVATE INQUIRY IS TO BE HELD BY GOVERNOR DONAHEY

Use Of Women To Entrap Suspects Is Basis Of Investigation

ALL OF PRINCIPALS IN WESTERVILLE CASE HAVE BEEN SUMMONED

Inquiry To Be Conducted At State Department Offices

(By Associated Press.)
 Columbus, Feb. 23.—Governor Donahey will start his investigation of the state prohibition department relative to the use of women to entrap men suspected of violating the liquor laws tomorrow afternoon, he announced today following a conference with Prohibition Commissioner B. F. McDonald. The investigation will be held at the prohibition department and will be private.

All those connected with the Westerville raid in which an attempt to entrap Town Marshal Harry E. Nutt was made, have been summoned to appear before the Governor and tell their side of the story. These include Marshal Nutt, Mrs. Ruth Farrell, who was used by the prohibition department to entrap Nutt; City Manager Whitney, who admitted he knew of the prohibition department's plan to entrap Nutt, and another woman who is alleged to have accompanied Mrs. Farrell to Westerville when the "date" was made for the meeting between Nutt and the sheriff.

Columbus, Feb. 23.—Commissioner McDonald, Deputy Commissioner F. A. Probst, who is alleged to have planned the entrapment of Marshal I. Nutt and the state inspectors who accompanied Probst when he made the raid also are to be examined. The inspectors are J. B. Coulter and Carl Seltzer, and Constable Brate who worked out of a nearby justice's court.

Investigation is scheduled to start at one-thirty o'clock. Other matters relating to enforcement methods employed by the department, including the raid on the country home of S. E. Stephenson, of Jackson, will be investigated later, the governor announced. He indicated that he might not inquire into certain circumstances of the Springfield and Dayton shooting in which Mr. Probst is alleged to have participated because no formal complaints had been made.

Police Take Up Chase Of Black Hand Gang

(By Associated Press.)
 Detroit, Feb. 23.—The Black hand squad of the police department today is seeking a clue to the identity of the persons who sent a threatening letter to Benjamin Gili, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera House, causing him to flee from Detroit during the small hours of this morning, cancelling an engagement to sing in concert here tonight.

"If Gili thinks he can sing before better Italians than us with his traitor ideas, he is mistaken," said the letter, which was addressed to the chief of police.

"You can let him know there are ways of slicing canaries' throats and if you don't want a corpse in your morgue you had better keep him out of this town where there are some good Italians who know what patriots should be."

$200,000 TO BE SPENT AT NEW REFORMATORY

15 Or 16 Building To Be Put Up At Chillicothe

(By Associated Press.)
 Cincinnati, Feb. 23.—The government has a tentative program to expend approximately $2,000,000 on the erection of 15 or 16 permanent buildings to be used as trade schools at the United States industrial reformatory at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, said United States Marshal Stanley Borthwick today. Borthwick, who returned here today said he accompanied Luther White, superintendent of prisoners of the United States, to Camp Sherman to inspect the former camp, which is being converted into a great reformatory for first offenders under 30 years of age.

At first 250 convicts from the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta and Leavenworth are to be sent there. They will be put to work and also will be trained in various trades. There are some 60 buildings in the camp now and these will be put into condition for temporary use pending erection of new buildings.

Here is the method: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. It has a double action. It not only soothes and heals irritation, but also removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So with the cause removed the worst cough soon disappears.

CHURCH CO-OPERATION URGED BY DR. LAMB

IN ADDRESS BEFORE ROTARY CLUB HERE TUESDAY.

A program of interdenominational co-operation, to reduce the waste of money and effort in sectarian competition, was urged upon the churches of Washington C. H. by Rev. B. F. Lamb, Columbus, executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches, in an address before the Rotary Club at the Tuesday noon luncheon at the Cherry hotel.

He appealed to the membership for active support of pastors and other church leaders in their efforts to develop such a co-operative program. He promised the backing of the Ohio Council of Churches for the county in its work in the local field, explaining that the state organization is making a special effort this year to encourage more active interdenominational work.

"Set aside denominationalism for the advancement of the Kingdom of God," was the basis of Dr. Lamb's plea for co-operation.

He quoted statistics to show that in order to perpetuate denominationalism, home mission funds are being used for support of more than 300 Ohio rural churches in communities which have too many churches for effective religious work and that more than 100 of this number are in communities where two or more churches in competition with each other are receiving mission aid.

An added feature of the entertainment program was the appearance of the Farm Bureau Quartet, composed of Herbert Cockerill, Bruce King, Harry Silcott and Homer Kessler with Mrs. Herbert Cockerill as accompanist. The quartet opened its first group of selections with a parody, "Bring Back My Profits To Me" and

HAD TWO QUARTS IS TAKEN IN TOW

Night Patrolmen Nelson and Haggard, Monday evening, took into custody a man giving the name of Herman Hebstreit, of Cincinnati, and a man who was riding with him, for having two quarts of liquor in their possession.

The pair had parked in this city and the officers became suspicious and took them in charge. The liquor in the Chrysler machine driven by the man was a mixture of "dago" wine and corn liquor, which the man said had been obtained in Norwood where, he stated, if one asks for "one quart of buttermilk" the liquor is forthcoming.

No charge was filed against the one fellow, but the driver is facing a charge of illegal possession, and his machine is being held here until he comes back with the amount of the fine.

STREETS CLEANED DURING MONDAY

A force of men was placed on the street just after midnight, Sunday, night, clearing away the refuse from the gutters and streets in the uptown district.

It had been sometime since the streets were cleaned, and a great deal of rubbish had accumulated.

It was noted that only two or three of the smaller places of business followed the old practice of sweeping refuse from the store into the gutter instead of disposing of the refuse as it should be handled.

HERE'S SWINDLE IN PEANUT SHELL

Hillsboro, O., February 23.—Citizens of Bethel, Ohio, are bewailing the loss of certain funds, and the dream of an important local enterprise that was to have furnished employment and prosperity for a large number of people.

Some weeks ago two men came to town, and let it be known that they intended erecting a plant which would salt peanuts with the hulls on. They appeared before the Chamber of Commerce and represented the project so flatteringly that several citizens were induced to invest.

Now they are gone taking with them the money, the peanuts, if any, and leaving the gullible residents the peanut bag to hold.

STOLEN GOODS ARE RECOVERED

YOUNG MAN ARRESTED ADMITS CRIMES

Chief Wolf and Patrolman Bell Monday night arrested Carl Kessler, farmer, aged 27, residing on the Jeffersonville road near Parrots Station on a charge of burglarizing various places and stealing articles valued at probably more than $150 including a radio set, $50 shot gun, field glasses valued at $35, carburetor, automobile tire, and other smaller articles.

Kessler admitted his guilt, and led the officers to his home where he obtained part of the stolen property and turned it over to the officers, after which he was brought to this city and placed in the county jail pending arraignment before Mayor Allen on a charge of burglary and grand larceny.

The shot gun was stolen from William Carr two or three months ago, and the radio and field glasses taken from the S. J. Clemmens home near Parrots. The Frank Chaffin premises were burglarized for part of the property taken.

The police have been working on the robberies for sometime, at the request of one or two of the parties who lost property, and Monday found a direct lead which resulted in the arrest of Kessler and return of the stolen property. So far as known it is Kessler's first trouble.

RENOMINATION OF COOLIDGE IS BIG ISSUE NOW

ation, or reelection for that matter, will insist that tradition requires not more than eight years and that no president has ever been in office nine years and seven months which is what might be the tenure if the constitutional amendment is not adopted. With the Norris amendment in effect, the Coolidge possible term would be cut to nine years and four months. The big question will be whether an extra year and four months is enough to disqualify Mr. Coolidge in the eyes of the country.

The answer probably will be made on the basis of Coolidge popularity and unpopularity in 1928. It by that time there is a demand for his continuance in power the extra year and five months will be looked upon by his own party following as a technicality which they will feel confident of overcoming in the electoral campaign. If Mr. Coolidge is not riding on the crest of success and if within his own party there is revolt and discontent, the technicality will be seized upon as the single obstacle to renomination and made the basis of the whole fight. But if Mr. Coolidge didn't think he could get a nomination, if a majority of his party didn't want him he would hardly care to make the race anyhow.

CONVERTED

Harriet Taylor Upton Not Always a Suffragist

SAW LIGHT IN '80'S

Now Engaged in Writing
And Lecturing

(By Associated Press.)
Warren, O., Feb. 23.—Harriet Taylor Upton was not always in favor of equal suffrage, even though her name has become almost a household word in the country as a proponent of that cause.

She was "converted" while living in Washington in the '80's, after meeting Susan B. Anthony. For many years, she was treasurer of the National American Woman Suffrage Association and was associated with Miss Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lucy Stone, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Rachel Foster Avery and later with Carrie Chapman Catt.

From 1911 to 1920, Mrs. Upton was executive head of the campaign organizations in charge of the successive efforts to win the vote for Ohio women. She also was first chairman of the congressional committee of the National Suffrage Association which had as its object the amendment of the federal constitution.

When the nineteenth amendment was pending in 1920, Mrs. Upton was one of a group of women who went to Tennessee to assist in securing notification by the legislature of that state. She was active with the Republican members of the assembly and Tennessee ratified, the 36th state to do so, thus completing the legislation required to write woman suffrage into the constitution of the United States.

Mrs. Upton later became vice chairman of the Republican National Committee and spent three or four years in Washington directing the organization of women in the Republican party. During that time and since she has been a speaker for her party in state and national campaigns.

Thousands Die

Vital statistics gathered throughout the country show that thousands die annually through carelessness and failure to take the proper care of the stomach and bowels. Medical practitioners urge the proper medical treatment for even the minor cases of indigestion, constipation, etc., arising from disordered conditions of the stomach. It has been found not necessary for strict diet in such cases, where Ka-di-Ok, the wonderful herbal laxative stomach tonic and system builder is used. Ka-di-Ok is highly recommended in all cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver ailments, nervousness, headaches, rheumatism, etc., as thousands have used it in this and other states and testify as to its merit in such conditions.

Mr. Wm. H. Stevens, Route 5, Fairmont, W. Va., had stomach trouble so bad that he was unable to do his work on the farm. He took a treatment of Ka-di-Ok and his troubles were removed. He says he now feels like a new man, never felt better in his life, can do his farm work with ease and pride, and personally thanks the Ka-di-Ok representative for the good Ka-di-Ok has done him.

Kadiok is sold and recommended at all Drug Stores.

WHAT'S THE USE

To Smuggle In Liquor At
$3.50 Per Quart

MATE IN AMERICA

And Can Be Bought For Only 50c More

BY CLIFF MOSIER

(By Consolidated Press, Copyright 1926)
Key West, Fla., Feb. 23.—Efficient customs inspections and not so efficient curbing of rum running are combining to boom this southernmost city of the United States as a tourist resort at the expense of Havana, Cuba.

"What's the use?" the discerning traveler is asking, when he takes the trouble to smuggle back a quart of liquor that cost him $3.50 in Havana and finds its mate safe on American terra firma for only $4.

This observation of Havana tourists is being capitalized by Key West businessmen with a new slogan: "Stay in Key West and spend the difference." Key West, they concede, does not boast the palatial hotels that other Florida resorts possess, but they contend that it compares pretty favorably with Havana—especially for those tourists who go to Havana primarily to quench their thirst. And that class of tourists, they believe, far outnumber those who go to Cuba to see its art galleries, its inspiring ruins and the scene of the sinking of the Maine.

It must not be inferred that Key West has developed overnight into a first class resort. Far from it. But Key West has been developing certain dollar catching features and more and more tourists, bound for Havana are beginning to linger.

Besides the plentiful liquor supply, which is constantly being replenished by a highly organized rum running fraternity, including among its members one woman called "The Roller-maker," the city boasts good hotel rooms at $2.50 a day, good bathing, and gorgeous fishing.

These attractions have begun drawing visitors from far and wide—even from Havana itself.

GOLD STAR LEGION POST "GOES OVER"

LAST CHECK ON QUOTA IS SENT TO HEADQUARTERS.

Jeffersonville, O., February 23.—The Gold Star Post of the American Legion here has sent in its last check on its quota of $250 to headquarters as its part in the national organization's campaign to raise $5,000,000. The post sent in $100 of the amount last summer and then, instead of saying "nuff," it took up a notch in its collective belt and drove ahead to get the remaining $150. With Dr. O. L. Wiseman as the moving spirit, the post lined up a movie show, the Woman's Chorus of Wittenberg College, candy sales and what-not to bring in the necessary money to the coffers. The entire community soon caught the spirit and was contributing aid whenever possible. The post is rapidly increasing in membership with the interest in its activities keeping pace.

PLAN DISPOSAL OF GIRLS HELD

Within the next 48 hours some disposition of the two young women being held in the city prison is to be made, it was indicated Tuesday.

Marie Carl has so far failed in her effort to produce $500 and costs from the Columbus man from whom she purchased the liquor she was totling when arrested by Chief Wolf. Imprisonment is planned in lieu of the fine and costs.

Volita Strattenburger, being held in the city lock-up with the Carl woman, on a charge of disorderly conduct, will probably be given a final hearing within a day or two.

PROBING THEFT OF WOODS AUTO

The Fayette County Automobile Club is still conducting an investigation into the theft of the Herman Woods Chevrolet coach, which was stolen in January, and recovered at Kenton.

The machine was found to have been wrecked, with considerable damage done to it.

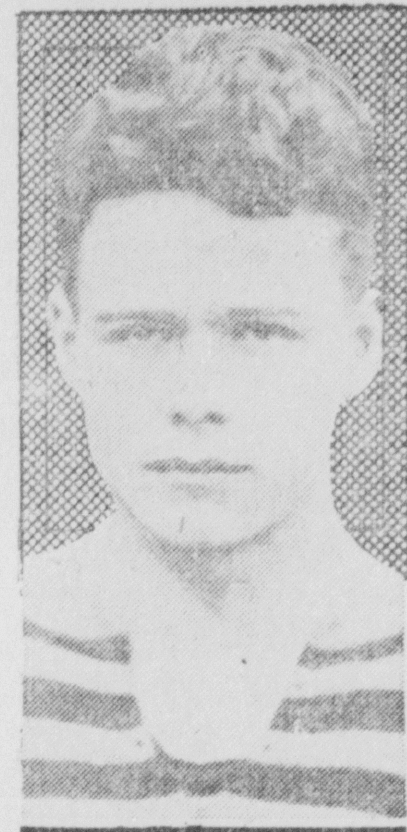

Clues picked up at Kenton are being followed, and the arrest of the thief or thieves is anticipated within a short time.

A Very Good Explanation

We have all been very much puzzled since the prohibition laws came into force, searching for the reason why so many people insist on violating the law and the constitution by patronizing bootleggers and other poison vendors and stocking up their cellars and sideboards with villainous intoxicants.

Defiance of law has not come so much from the old timers, from whom a little disregard and violation of law was expected. It has, on the contrary, come from people who did not drink in the pre-Volstead days.

We rather incline to the belief that the theory advanced a short time ago by one observer, comes about as close to an explanation as anything we have yet had offered.

According to that observer it has become a fad, among the supposedly well to do, to keep a stock of drinks on hand to offer friends who call, and thereby impress the callers that the householder is a man of wealth and influence—that he enjoys such a position of wealth and influence that he is financially able to buy high priced "stuff" and is influential enough to keep it in his house and serve his friends.

That sounds reasonable to us. Sounds like just another vulgar display for the purpose of creating an impression.

Desert Flowers

While the north lands are carpeted with snow, while the vegetation in the producing sections of the country is still dead looking, the desert lands are just coming into bloom.

The season of flowers and blooms in the desert is a short one, but it unfolds a panorama of unrivalled beauty. Just enough moisture has gone into the ground from the light snows and rains to encourage the humble but brave desert plants to shyly unfold their beauty in response to the caresses of the sun.

The great prickly cactus plants are now a mass of bright scarlet bloom, the poppies, the daisies and the thousands of strange named plants are all now a mass of bloom. Many of the vast bare spaces are carpeted with flowers. In the lower places, the desert looks like a monster velvet rug carpet of varying colors and shades had been spread over it. Those who have never seen the desert in bloom have missed a gorgeous sight, have missed a wondrous beauty that they never suspected existed.

Ford's Latest

Successful men—tremendously and spectacularly successful men—get strange ideas or at least express strange theories about how to succeed in the world.

Sometimes it is difficult to believe that men who have made such a conspicuous success in business really believe what they pass out to others as the rules to follow if one would succeed. Sometimes one can't help believing that they do it just to see their names in print.

Henry Ford, as an example, asserts in an article, which he fathers, in one of the late periodicals, that any business to be successful must share its profits with its employees.

We remember that among the income tax payments recently made public, Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, and the Ford Motor Company, paid an income tax last year of something like $24,000,000, which indicated that after Henry Ford's ideas of sharing profits with his employees were carried out there was still quite a handsome share left for the Fords, if the tax on it was $24,000,000.

Henry Ford does pay big wages, but he demands, as he has a right to do, big work. For every dollar he pays for labor he gets a full dollar's worth of labor. That's business.

His talk of sharing profits is the merest nonsense or a play on words designed to deceive and mislead.

Ford's adventures into politics and literature have not been conspicuous successes and his latest dash into the spotlight hasn't added to his fame.

POETRY FOR TODAY

TO MY WAR HORSE
You were a most mettlesome steed.
In color a raven's wing black;
And always you galloped at speed
To lead any dashing attack.

A horse of remarkable age,
You battled at Hastings, I know.
And when trumpets blew to engage,
You joined in the Agincourt show.

You marched with the white Yorkist rose
When Gloucester a lance laid to rest;

Where Percy and Douglas matched blows,
You charged with the bravest and best.

You always were keen for a fight.
You loved all the splendor and dash
But yet were best of a night
When wind rattled hard at the sash.

Tis years since we joined a meloe,
My helmet is nest for the rooks;
And so you are stabled away
In pages of old story books.

Nature's Notebook

CEDAR APPLES

Walkers among winter hedgerow will frequently find growing on the twigs of the common juniper tree, more frequently called "red cedar", curious swellings of hard woody texture, marked all over with little depressions or pits. They are not additions to the tree, though they do have the mark of being foreign to it, like a wart or a wen on a man's head.

As a matter of fact, these "cedar apples" are diseased growth, and like warts or wens consist of masses of natural tissue developed to an unnatural degree as the result of a pathological condition. The stimulus to unhealthy growth in this case consists of a parasitic fungus. Its spores lodge in the twigs, sending out invisible thread-like growth that invade the growing part of the wood and irritate it to the production of tumor-like tissue.

In these knots of tissue the fungus growth feeds and matures, and in the rainy spring sends out numerous slender, gelatinous, finger-like projects that produce large crops of a second type of spores. Remarkably enough, these are not able to grow on other red cedar trees, but must have the leaves and young fruit of apple trees to prey on. They cause the serious and disfiguring plant disease known as apple rust, which yearly makes thousands of bushels of apples unmarketable.

And yet one frequently finds apple orchards with rows of red cedar planted about them for wind breaks.

PUBLIC UTILITIES CONSOLIDATIONS ARE ON INCREASE

Recapitalizing Operations Mark Prospects

Time For Public To Act Is Before Merging

BY J. C. ROYLE

(By Consolidated Press. Copyright 1926)
New York, Feb. 23.—New financing by public utilities corporations in 1926 is expected to approximate $1,700,000,000. This compares with $1,496,000,000 in 1925. New York state alone authorized the issuance of $257,778,775 in public utility securities last year and this sum probably will be exceeded by a wide margin this year.

The demand for gas and electric service is growing constantly. New customers in New York state are being added at the rate of about one thousand a day. The consumption of electric current throughout the country, which totalled 59,517,000,000 kilowatt hours in 1925, is expected to increase to over 65,000,000,000 kilowatt hours this year. Consumption of manufactured gas in 1925 was 437,771,000,000 cubic feet and probably will expand 10 percent by the end of December next.

This tremendous demand is pushing the gas and electric business toward consolidation into unified systems. In view of this fact and the huge volume of securities which will be offered the public in the next ten months, there is a wide discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of mergers and of holding companies. It is notable, however, that opposition to these unifications is directed not so much at their use, as at their abuse.

Consumers expect and have a right to expect service from a public service corporation. Assurance that this service will be rendered them in spite of outside conditions, or untoward circumstances has seemed essential to continued expansion of customers. This has been a factor in the merging of utility companies. These have enabled plants to supplement each other in the rendering of service to customers.

There has been widespread gain in operating efficiency as a result of some of these mergers, with a corresponding widening of net earnings. There has been a sharp demand for lower rates on the part of consumers and some reductions have been made. The effect of the mergers so far, however, has been toward stabilization and unification of rates, rather than toward sharp decreases.

In discussing these mergers and the offering of utility stocks and bonds to the country, many misuses of the system have been pointed out. The chief danger emphasized is that impending to purchasers of non-voting stock and to minority stockholders.

It was pointed out today in this connection, that the chief cause of the war with England, which General Washington led was the fact that the Colonies had no vote in handling their own affairs. It was made clear that if a group of capitalists secured control of a concern, for, say $25,000,000 in non-voting stock and reserved for itself the issues carrying votes, with complete control and power to wreck the concern if desired, it created a dangerous situation.

Clear headed bankers agreed, but said that the best protection for the public lay in the hands of the public itself and that such a game could not stand if the old legal maxim "caveat emptor," let the buyer beware, were followed. They stated that the companies in the end had to go to the public for their needed funds and if the public refused to buy, steps must be taken to make offerings meet the public's demands.

They declared further that minority stockholders could wield tremendous power in any corporation in which they held voting stock, provided they knew their rights and insisted on them, just as voters had the power to redress political abuses if they took the trouble to register and vote.

SOCIETY-PERSONAL MENTION-FICTION-HOUSEHOLD HINTS

One of the loveliest parties ever chronicled in the annals of the Daughters of the American Revolution was the Colonial tea honoring the birthday of George Washington entertained Monday by Mrs. George Renick and her assisting hostess, Mesdames John Durant, Walter D. Craig, Robert Craig, Maude Coffman, Calvin Holmes, Walter McCoy, David H. Rowe, S. E. Boggs, Minnie Brown, Fannie Harlow, Carey Parrett, Troy Junk, Miss Jean Howat, Miss Dora Hays.

The stately Craig homestead, spacious and Colonial in type was admirably adapted to an affair which assembled nearly a hundred Daughters and a few favored guests. All the charm of the Colonial period was duplicated, many of the Daughters in costume and wearing beautiful old gowns that were cherished heirlooms and the red, white and blue in combination with the spring flowers which wafted their fragrance throughout the room.

The receiving line presented a picture of the days of George Washington, Mrs. Renick an exceedingly handsome Colonial dame, at the head and other gracious hostesses in fascinating gowns with powdered hair and high heeled slippers with big buckles.

Mrs. George Hitchcock, Regent, greeted the guests and the Daughters joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and in giving the Flag Salute. The spirit of the day was beautifully embodied in the program presented under the direction of Mrs. Robert Craig by the children of the American Revolution.

Miss Jean Michael and Miss Juanita Gerstner gave musical readings with winsome grace, each accompanying the other.

Miss Pauline Little, of Jeffersonville, sang, her voice a clear, sweet soprano. She was accompanied by her teacher, Mrs. Amanda Maull Paxson.

George A. Robinson Jr., in a perfect Colonial costume, powdered peruke, buckles on his knickerbockers and shoes, and lace frills was an exceedingly handsome small George Washington, and recited a poem named for the Father of our Country to the great delight of the guests.

The social pleasure of the hour around the lovely tea table was sufficient to make the guests linger late in the afternoon. The table centerpiece of white, red and blue hyacinths and fern, was surrounded by tall red candles, and the delicacies served featured prettily the cherry and the colors and symbols of the day.

Visiting guests enjoying the tea were Mrs. Lucien Wells, of Catawba, Va., Miss Pitta Junk, of Frankfort and Miss Tanquary, of Van Wert, O.

To serve the home-makers of America by picture and by word to suggest for the home—not only comfort but that intangible atmosphere that invites you to stay—some call this divalness, some call it charm, it is the rather the art of "Decorating."

We are not always fortunate enough to have a room ideally planned in the manner most becoming and most suited to our individuality, but, as in so many instances, there are corrective measures, to be taken that will do much to right the wrongs if we are not conscious of them. Among these, the background stands pre-eminent. Not only the structural aspect of the room, and its essential colors and textures reveal the personality, however. Perhaps even more than these the small incidentals shriek out the intimate secrets about themselves!

The little necessities that are part of our daily life should be made to fit into decorative plans, and it is always possible to use them to gain desired effects instead of useless Bric-a-Brac. Pictures mean much in the furnishing of a home, the bedroom, it is here that one awakens to face a new day, what is better than to be cheerfully greeted by some friendly, inspirational picture which will give us a wholesome impetus in starting the day's undertakings.

Textiles in one form or another furnish us in every phase of home furnishing. We walk on them in the shape of rugs; our chairs and couches are upholstered with them, as draperies their selection ornaments our windows and in a minor way they are conspicuous in every room. Textiles have much to do with the comfort of a room. Take them away and the room seems cold and bare. Indulge in too many and the room seems stuffy. But well selected most of the furnishing problems are solved.

Undoubtedly, a good taste in combining colors for house decoration is a thing apart. Some women can create a little bit of heaven with a pot of paint; others will create a little bit of heaven with a command. There is a desire with most of us to introduce into our rather somber daily surroundings, a bit of original color with which to express our personality.

Professor Abell of Antioch College on the evening of February 24th, at the Federated Club Rooms will be present, under the auspices of the Young Business Women's Club to work out for the women of Washington some of the theories of decorating that you can more easily follow them. Professor Abell having first carefully tested their workableness before presenting them to his audience. A special invitation is given the Club Women of the City Federation, and any other women who are interested in home decoration.

Mrs. T. F. Myler entertained a delightful little party Saturday morning honoring the sixth birthdays of her little daughters, Elizabeth and Priscilla.

Twelve youngsters were included with the honor guests in a series of games and contests, directed by Mrs. Morris Cochran, that occupied the morning. In a favor hunt, each guest received a small package containing a miniature American flag. Hatchets and boxes of candies were also given as favors. At twelve o'clock a delicious luncheon was served, the table prettily with red carnations and red candles. The luncheon was dextrously served by Miss Elizabeth Fite and Miss Annabel Rayburn.

Mrs. Myler was also assisted by Mrs. Jesse Persinger.

Enjoying the affair were Lydia Ann and Marjorie McClure, Barbara Brock, Susanne Willis, Jean Wollard, Jean and John Rees, Barbara Fite, Patty Persinger, Virgil Hunter, Ann Patton and Charles Cochran.

The Mothers' Circle met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Forest Tipton. Mrs. Fred D. Wollard and Mrs. F. Morris Cochran assisting hostesses.

After the business session, at which time Mrs. Ray E. Griffith was elected to membership, Mrs. Gertrude Myler presented the younger children of the Circle in a delightful program, the Spring evenings call out a lighter and more diaphanous type of dress than the beaded and brocaded gowns of winter. Georgette, silk voile, crepe Georgette, crepe Roma and crepe de Chine have the floating quality essential to the present fluttering, animated mode. tiny tots being most cunning in their toys and drills.

Mrs. Margaret Cochran, in charge of the program, then introduced Mayor Allen, who spoke in a most comprehensive and instructive talk of our town and what it costs. The tax rate of Fayette County is 19.70 mills of which Washington C. H. receives 5.25 mills or $61,181.93 out of which all city expenses must be met, except the maintenance of improved streets, which is paid by the sale of automobile tags and gasoline tax. From this amount $41,953.32 must first be set aside for interest and sinking fund leaving $19,228.61 for all other city expenses. Actual figures show that it requires $31,879 to maintain the police and fire departments at their present standard and to pay water and street lights. Besides these we have the health, cemetery, library and pension funds.

Music by Eleanore Allen and a reading by Betty Brock were much enjoyed and the meeting was brought to a close by a prayer of George Washington's read by Mrs. Cochran.

Mrs. Willard Peterson (nee Elizabeth Briggs, of New Holland) was complimented, Monday, with a linen shower entertained by Miss Martha Peterson, Miss Marge Wright and Mrs. Adam Mallow, at the Peterson home near Austin.

Seventy-five guests were entertained from the hours of two until five and they were received by Jesse Mallow Jr., dressed cunningly as George Washington, who accepted the shower of lovely gifts. The gifts were presented to the pride and opened in a living room artistically decorated in red, white and blue and a miniature cherry tree loaded with cherries.

A dainty repast was served in the dining room further carrying out the appropriate color scheme. In the center of the daintily appointed table was a bride dressed in colonial bridal garb. Pretty nosegays of red, white and blue sweet peas tied with red, white and blue ribbon, were presented to each guest as a favor.

Guests from Xenia, Columbus, Portsmouth, New Holland, Frankfort and Washington C. H. were included.

The meeting of the Phi Beta Psi sorority will be held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Mary Hagler instead of Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Earl Gidding as announced.

Mrs. Martha Yarger, of Milledgeville, entertained at dinner, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Powers, of Portsmouth, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dice, Mr. Elmer Dice, of Springfield, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Powers, of Milledgeville.

A pretty Washington's birthday party was entertained Saturday evening at the home of Miss Neta Christy on Columbus avenue and included members of her Sunday School class of the First Presbyterian church and the teacher, Mrs. Arthur Finley.

Each of the girls wore a colonial costume. At five o'clock a pot luck supper was served, the hostess assisted by her mother, Mrs. Jenny Christy.

Miss Alfie Chaney was a guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Hoppes, combined the regular session of the fortnightly Five Hundred Club with an informal George Washington party Monday evening.

During the evening's progressive game, the guests enjoyed a program of violin and piano music given by Mr. and Mrs. Hoppes' sons, Richard and Henry. Mrs. Henry Smith won the trophy of the game. Small flags were presented to the women and hatchets to men, as favors.

Mrs. Hoppes was assisted by her sons in serving a delicious collation.

The Washington Country Club has never staged a gayer more thoroughly pleasurable dance than the Washington's Birthday ball of Monday night, with half a hundred society folk participating.

The Stars and Stripes were most appropriately used in decoration, with a large picture of George Washington in the center of the large flag draped over the balcony. Enormous flags formed immense fans which screened the doors and mantel at the end of the lounge and made a most effective background.

Everything moved off with constantly increasing verve, each successive dance of increasing pep and gaiety and the circles as popular as usual. Gregg's Sereaders furnished the music and it was the unanimous opinion of the dancers that this orchestra, growing in popularity by leaps and bounds, excelled all former efforts. The dancers stopped long enough to enjoy the excellent lunch served towards midnight. Everyone had the best possible time and were most appreciative of the efforts of the social committee, Mr. Frank E. Michael, chairman, Mr. Earl Gidding.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Quinby Smith, of Mt. Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Anell Kirk, of New Holland, were out or own members in attendance and Miss Etta Junk, of Frankfort, a visiting guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Selsor Fenner arranged a beautiful little dinner, Monday evening, as a surprise compliment to their cousin, Miss Helen Cline, upon her birthday.

The dining table was centered with a beautiful birthday cake with tiny, pink, blazing candles and at the ends of the table were shell pink tapers in silver sticks.

Seated with Mr. and Mrs. Fenner and Miss Cline were—Mr. and Mrs. J. Paul Strevey, Miss Ercel Cline and Miss Louise Fenner, Mr. Robert Hartman, Mr. Lamorne Everhart and Mr. Homer Leaverton.

Miss Elizabeth Fite was a most attractive young hostess Monday, delightfully entertaining a "500" luncheon, with covers laid for fourteen. The table was exceedingly pretty with pink flowers forming the centerpiece and green candles, the crystal sticks tied with tulle.

Miss Fite was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Ed Fite, Miss Mary McLean and Miss Jean Tipton.

Enjoying the affair were Misses Susie Tracey, Mary Katherine Snider, Helen Louise Jackson, Mary McLean, Jean Tipton, Ruth Kay, Georgia Prugh Chapman, Alice Elizabeth Ellis, Elizabeth Cline, Annabel Stemler, Kathleen Penn, Annabel Rayburn, Mary Miller.

It was when we met last week? Mary's thoughts reverted to his shabby suit.

"Oh, yes, for over a month I've known, and more. But I had to finish some studies—street scenes in the Latin Quarter and Southern darky pictures and the like—for a New York exhibition. And there were many things to see to."

They met again at dinner at the Captain's table. Louella's soft persuasiveness had worked miracles with the chief steward, and he had not only placed her with her aunt and uncle at the Commander's table, but had included Mary Forrest too—somewhat to Miss Louella's chagrin.

The secretary, however, was far removed from the place of honor which Louella held between the Captain and Philip Andover. True, the Captain—as is customary on many ships—wasn't in the saloon tonight, but on the bridge.

But tomorrow night he would be here, resplendent in his evening garb of blue and gold and naval decorations. Louella loved a uniform.

Meantime, Mary Forrest—in her one simple little evening frock—felt like a small brown wren among the peacocks.

But she wasn't going to let that fact depress her. She looked about the saloon with animated eyes.

After the meal was over, they went up to the deck, where the moon was just beginning to load the sea, sky and ship with a soft radiance. People crowded about—Philip Andover, the tall Australian, Mr. Rodgers, and some young men whom Cyrus Wade had known in New York.

It was all a thrill for Mary. Of course young Mr. Andover liked Louella—that was obvious—and Louella was lovely and so exquisitely garbed—but it gave her (Mary Forrest) such a warm, comfortable protected feeling every time Mr. Andover's brown eyes met hers with a kind of smile, as though to say:

"You're a real friend in me, young woman! Never fear!"

Mrs. Wade's nerves, too, were quiescent. She was the soul of amiability tonight, beaming on the two young girls like a good old hen who is glad her ducklings have taken to the water.

"Kind of chilly, isn't it?" she remarked to Mary. "I wish I had a scarf."

"I've one in my cabin. Let me run and fetch it," volunteered the girl. She found the necessary article, and, returning to the deck, passed the ship's post office, with its numerous pigeon-holes for mail.

Small likelihood that there was anything for her. She made inquiry, just the same.

"Miss Forrest? Yes. One letter." The official handed her an envelope in Teddie's writing, with the word "Urgent" scrawled in the top left hand corner.

Mary drew aside a little, and opened the envelope with a disturbing premonition that all wasn't well. Her eye fell on Teddie's signature, and the sentence:

"You've simply got to help me out, old girl, or I'll be felled and absolutely done for! For God's sake wire the money!"

With shaking hands she read the letter through. It was brief and to the point—and terrible. Teddie had stolen money from his firm, and in two days' time the auditors were coming to go through the books.

"If you can't wire me two hundred and fifty dollars by Thursday night, they'll get me," he implored. "I'll probably be a three years' sentence, and I'd sooner shoot myself. For God's sake, Mary, help me!"

Two hundred and fifty dollars. Her worldly all was twenty-five. Teddie—disgraced—in jail! In sick horror the whole ship seemed to dance before her eyes.

Tomorrow—"Mary's Dilemma."

THE LETTER

The ship had turned to breast the broad Atlantic, and a salty breeze was on their faces as they walked. It brought a most becoming flush to Mary Forrest's usually pale young countenance. Her features sparkled with animation as she told the young man of her amazing luck in securing such a post as this.

"My only relative is Teddie, my young step-brother, who is working up in Chattanooga," she concluded. "But, with me in Atlanta, that divided us much as if the Atlantic had lain between. It's quite a trip, you see, and holidays are—were—very few and far between."

Philip Andover regarded her kindly and with interested eyes.

"I'll bet you've been good to this Teddie person. I'll bet the youngascal has imposed upon you."

"Oh, no—that is, I—I like to be imposed on," stammered her companion, taken unawares, and quite confused. "Teddie's young, and he likes a good time, and boys must have money. I wish I'd been able to do more. It'll be easier now—" She broke off, biting her under-lip vexedly. What would he think of her?

Noting her embarrassment, he gave the conversation a deft trend towards himself.

"I'm setting out on new adventures, too, so—doubly—we're in the same boat." His smile was very charming, brimful of sympathy and understanding. "I've inherited a property in Cuba. Been painting in Paris for several years, but the doctors have warned me against the winters there. Lungs a bit delicate since 'the war, you know. That's why I came back to Atlanta. It's my old home, you know."

"But you could paint pictures in Cuba and sell them?"

He laughed a little ironically. "Couldn't live on that. My regular small income came from teaching art. Now, however, things are changed, and hard times over. There will be no further money worries. Cuba is as lovely as her climate, and I can paint her to my heart's content without thinking of financial recompense. 'The Island of Delight,' I've christened her."

LECTURES GIVEN

On "The Imaginary and the Real America"

WIDELY PRINTED

In Newspapers Of Soviet Russia

BY JUNIUS B. WOOD
(Special cable to The Washington C. H. Herald and Chicago Daily News.)

Moscow, February 23.—Coincident with the receipt of cables telling of the introduction by Representative Sabath of a resolution empowering President Coolidge to appoint a commission to discuss recognition of Russia, Valerian Osinsky, director of the Government Statistical administration, which provides data as a basis for state undertakings, is giving lectures on "The Imaginary America and the Real America." Osinsky recently returned from a visit to the United States. His lecture is being widely printed in Soviet newspapers.

"The wrong ideas we have about America are the same wrong ideas about Soviet Russia that are held abroad," he declares. "Our impressions regarding America are created by the economic romances of fictionists."

"America's productive industry is very weak. Industrially the states have reached only the tadpole stage of development."

"The only merchandise that Americans praise is that which is bought abroad. Goods of American manufacture soon wear out. Shoes, textiles, especially stockings and underwear, go to pieces quickly in America."

American machinery lasts only five to ten years. That made in Germany and England lasts twice as long. American safety razors have a great reputation, but the best blades are exported while only the poor ones are sold in the states.

"American telephone service is poor. The connections are constantly breaking. European soaps are better and European bread is tastier."

"I bought a box of matches on a dining car near Washington. The label on the box said 'Made in Latvia.' American matches are so bad that they cannot compete even with the Latvian brand. European sugar, particularly Russian, is much superior to the American."

"The states built ships during the war which are so bad that they are now destroying them."

"American trains start with a jerk, which ours have not done since 1913. The trains are often from three minutes to five hours late, thus showing the falsity of the popular opinion about American accuracy. In the street cars, half the passengers are forced to stand."

"An American never keeps an appointment at the agreed time. Any opinions that America is a country of unusual industry, science, energy, business methods or accuracy, is exaggerated. The American isn't energetic, but lazy."

"Much is said about the American workman's prosperity and how the unemployed ride in their own automobiles while looking for work. This isn't true. Class distinctions are not abolished. The workman's savings average about $150, which is gone with two months of unemployment. Salaries have increased only 25 percent since the war."

"Banks are scattered through the American Provinces where the President acts also as cashier and bookkeeper, giving loans to the peasants. These banks are unsupervised and quite independent. The American peasant doesn't know how to use chemical fertilizer for his fields. The tractor and the tractor plow are quite unknown to him."

"Commercial aviation is more developed in Russia than in America. As far as American culture is concerned, the educated Russian is above the averaged educated American. I went to every store in Washington trying to find a certain book about America. I was informed that the edition was exhausted. When I returned to Moscow, I found it immediately."

"Finally, no words can describe the negro problems in the states. Now is the time to take the halo from America."

Osinsky's lecture has aroused great interest and is acclaimed as a courageous and true picture of conditions in that capitalistic country.

RIVAL ORGANIZATION OF K. K. K. IS GAINING the activities of the order, to show how each person stands on religion and evolution.

These are the questions:

1. Do you believe in God as the creator of the universe?
2. Do you believe in man as God's highest creation, made in his own likeness and image, separate and distinct from all other of his creations?
3. Do you believe in the Bible as the divinely inspired word of God?
4. Are you in sympathy with the doctrines of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man?
5. Are you opposed to the theory of evolution or atheism or any other theory which seeks to establish a materialistic philosophy regarding God and creation?

Every candidate for public office in Georgia (there are city, county and state elections this year) will receive one of these questionnaires, it is stated.

After the "Supreme Kingdom" has established itself in this state its activities will be carried to other sections of the country. At least that is the plan of the present leaders, who include as incorporators and officers William J. Mahoney, a former imperial officer of the Klan, and Henry J. Norton, cyclops of the first unit of the Klan in its infancy. W. J. Simmons, founder of the modern Klan and its former imperial wizard, is understood to be lending his influence to the new organization.

WASHINGTON HI DEBATERS VICTORIOUS AGAIN
AS BOTH AFFIRMATIVE AND NEGATIVE TEAMS
TAKE DECISIONS FROM NELSONVILLE SQUADS

AFFIRMATIVE UNABLE TO RETURN MONDAY NIGHT.

The debating squads of Washington Hi put another feather in their respective caps and brought new laurels to their school when they emerged victorious from the dual debate with Nelsonville Hi, Monday night, in the first round of semi-finals in the Ohio University-Marietta College Debating League.

The Blue and White negative team debating before an audience that fairly well filled the high school auditorium here had its first taste of appearing before home people and on a forum with which they were familiar, all of which instilled a confidence in the team that was very apparent.

The debate was close—only 18 points difference according to the University. The Nelsonville affirmative team was a truly worthy opponent judge, Professor McQuiston, of Ohio and the Washington Hi negative team earned a distinctive honor in defeating it.

In his criticism following the rendering of the decision, Professor McQuiston declared that as a whole the debaters showed originality without digressing from authority and was comparatively free from "bookishness," but added that generalities overbalanced specific references.

Paul Harper, he said, had the best all around speech, Jean Michael, he thought, the best speaker with the greatest possibilities while Dorothy Chandler was not only a good speaker but best in rebuttal. He likewise spoke highly of the Nelsonville team, especially mentioning Ralph Fleck, the only boy on the team, for his strong rebuttal. The alternates, Harold French and Frances Jorshuck were also complimented.

J. L. Cadwallader was the chairman of the debate.

The Blue and White affirmative team debating at Nelsonville won the unanimous decision of the three judges despite the fact that Nelsonville Hi put up both good constructive speeches and good rebuttals. The Washington Hi debaters surpassed opponents, according to the decision of the judges, in almost every department of the debate.

Their constructive speeches were comprehensive and well expressed and the rebuttals, possibly their strongest point, were sharp and direct to the point at issue.

The judges at the Nelsonville meeting did not get into a detailed criticism of the individuals as did the single adjudicator at the debate here, but John Case continued to furnish the fireworks of the evening while he was ably supported by his two colleagues, Dorothy Williams and Mary Alice Davis. The stage presence of the entire team was exceptional.

The team was accompanied by the coach, L. C. Staats. It was planned that the team should return here immediately after the debate but the snow and storm made it advisable to postpone the return until Tuesday.

DE PAOLO LOWERS TIME RECORD IN WINNING 300-MILE AUTO RACE

AVERAGES 129.29 MILES AN HOUR TO BEAT HARTZ.

Miami, Fla., February 23.—(P)—Peter De Paolo, maintaining an average speed of 129.29 miles per hour, won the inaugural of the 300-mile automobile classic here over a field of 18 drivers and established a new record for the distance.

De Paolo finished two laps ahead of his nearest competitor, Harry Hartz. Bob McDonough came in third, Frank R. Elliott came in fourth and Earl Devore fifth.

In winning Monday's race De Paolo lowered Tommy Milton's former record of 109 miles, set at Kansas City in 1925.

Under ideal weather the 18 drivers were started on the long drive by Barney Oldfield, former speed king. Ralph Hepburn shot into the lead at the start, but on the third lap surrendering the position to Dave Lewis.

At the end of the first 100 miles Leon Duray was leading the procession, with De Paolo in fourth place and Hartz fifth.

At the half way mark, De Paolo and Hartz had moved up a place, with Devore and Duray setting a dizzy pace. Bennett Hill, in fifth place, was sent to the pits when a blowout caused his car to skid and turn around three times.

Devore shot into the lead at the 141st lap and De Paolo crowded the former pace-maker into third position. De Paolo and Duray played see-saw for second place until the 151st lap, when the latter was forced into the pits with tire trouble.

Devore set a new world record for the 200-mile distance over a wooden bowl, when he went to the distance at an average of 131.04 miles an hour. The old record of 129.40 was set last Thanksgiving Day at Culver City, Cal., by Earl Cooper. He had been forced to the pits on the 173rd lap and De Paolo took the lead, never to be headed.

De Paolo had a pair of his baby's shoes fastened to the steering gear of his machine. It was the second race the little Italian had won with these "pilots and mascots" as he termed them.

TEN RACE HORSES DESTROYED IN FIRE AT AQUEDUCT TRACK

New York, February 23.—(P)—Ten race horses owned by Charles Moore were destroyed last night in a fire which demolished two stables at the Aqueduct race track in Queens. No other horses were in the stables. Among the animals killed was Pittifogger, which won the Empire City Derby two years ago.

Another victim was Alchemy, which recently brought $7,500 at a sale.

The other horses were Sarsaparilla, Sleepy, Daisy and five two-year-olds not yet named. Eight horses, owned by A. L. Aste, were saved from an adjoining stable. Aste, known as "Tony" Aste, is a former bootblack, now a wealthy shoe manufacturer and owner of the Ascot stables.

Games Slated For Morning Afternoon And Night

With the close of the County League schedule last Friday night, the attention of the players and followers of the Fayette County high school court squads is turning towards the Fourth Annual Fayette County Tournament to be held, Saturday, February 27, at the high school gym, here.

The boys' and girls' squads of the four county high schools, Wayne, of Good Hope, Bloomingburg, Madison Mills and Jeffersonville, will compete in this tournament.

Morning, afternoon and night sessions will be held. Three games will be played in the preliminary round in the morning. These will include the two girls' preliminaries and one boys' preliminary. Drawing will be made at nine o'clock with the first game to start promptly at nine-thirty.

The afternoon session will start at one-thirty and will consist of the other boys' preliminary, and two consolation games between the losers of the preliminary round.

The night session will comprise two games, the first one between the winners of the girls' preliminaries to start at eight o'clock. The second game will be between the winners of the boys' preliminary games.

The cup and shield presented two years ago by the Washington C. H. Herald, will be presented to the winners in the two divisions. One team must win each trophy three years in succession in order to become permanent possessors of it. The Madison Mills girls' have a chance to secure permanent possession of the shield as they won it in 1924 and 1925. The cup, presented to the winners of the boys' tournament was won in 1924 by Jeffersonville and last year by Bloomingburg. In addition to winning the cup, the winner of the boys' tournament will be sent to Athens, March 12 and 13 to compete in the Class B regional tournament to be held there. Competent officials will have charge of the tournament. Messrs. Snider and Sheets, of Antioch College, have been secured to referee and umpire these games, and this means that they will be competently handled, as these men come highly recommended by Coach Earl Prugh, of Antioch College, of high class ability, who have no connection with any team competing in the tournament.

The final standing in the Fayette County League schedule has been announced as follows:

BASEBALL MEETING SLATED FOR FRIDAY

K. I. O. LEAGUE MEMBERSHIP TO BE DISCUSSED.

A meeting of local business men and fans, interested in the placing of a high class baseball line to represent Washington C. H. in the K. I. O. League, has been called for Friday evening, at 7:30, the meeting to be held at the Sunlight Creameries.

A number of local business men have signified their willingness to go the limit in an effort to have this city represented in the K. I. O. League by a fast-stopping nine, one that can hold its own with any other team in the League, and it is for the purpose of making arrangements for financing this club, that this meeting has been called.

BLUE AND WHITE TO MEET LONDON ON ITS OWN FLOOR FRIDAY NIGHT

TEAMS ARE OLD RIVALS AND HOT TIME IS EXPECTED.

The Washington high school basketball squad, which finished in a tie for second place in the South-Central Ohio League schedule, which came to a close last Friday night, will meet one of its old rivals, Thursday night, of this week, when it goes to London to play the strong high school quintet of that place.

The game here last year between London and Washington will long be remembered, as it required three overtime periods before the Blue and White lads were able to pull out on top. Needless to say, the Madison county lads will do all in their power to avenge this defeat, while the Blue and White quintet, which only recently got to going full force, claim they are going to send the London boys down to another defeat and this one will not take three overtime periods to decide.

The Washington girls had not been able to book a game for this week end, Tuesday morning, but all efforts are being expended to secure them a contest.

THE WASHINGTON SAVINGS BANK BUYS AND SELLS LIBERTY BONDS.

Charles Dressen, utility infielder of the Cincinnati Reds, reported at the club offices, Monday, being the first out-of-town player to report for the trip to the Orlando, Fla., training camp, which will start Saturday.

A world's record that had stood for 18 years was broken at the American Legion track meet in Boston, Monday, when DeHart Hubbard, negro athlete, sprinted 65 yards in 6.45 seconds. The old record was 7 seconds.

Western Conference games, Monday night, resulted in the following scores: Michigan 22, Wisconsin 13; and Illinois 24, Chicago 16.

WHY Shredded Wheat?

There's a purpose in every process that goes into the making of Shredded Wheat. And as the name implies we consider the "Shredding" process all important. It is the famous patented process—exactly as it is done at our factories—that we are demonstrating at

Hart-Parr Power

Replaces 3 Men and 5 Teams

Hart-Parr power cuts the cost of hired help and horses and protects your profits by getting the work done in season. Plowing, planting, harvesting, threshing and silo-filling must be done at the best season regardless of heat, flies, the hardness of the soil or the heaviness of the crop. Comparison with all other lines convinces us that the Hart-Parr is the most powerful, durable and economical tractor made. Come in and see the 1926 line.

Your Neighbor Knows! Read What He Says!

Washington C. H., Ohio, Feb. 9, 1926.

In regard to tractor I purchased of Charles F. Bonham last season, of the Hart-Parr make, I am pleased to say I ordered 160 acres of ground pulling a 14-28 disc and cultipacker and drag. Drag was 3-pieces 4x4 turned edgeways and kept ahead of two planters, running 10 hours a day, ordering on an average of 30 acres per day. We used about 16 gallons of kerosene and 3 quarts lubricating oil per day.

In a test with another tractor we pulled a 16-32 disc and cultipacker while the other make pulled only a 14-28 disc. We used 6 gallons less fuel in 8 hours than the other tractor. We used our tractor all season without one cent for repairs. I consider the Hart-Parr tractor the strongest and most durable tractor for the money that you can buy and the most economical to run.
